

PHILOSOPHIA CHRISTI

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	CRAIG J. HAZEN	251
SYMPOSIUM ON GOD AND ABSTRACT OBJECTS
The Problem of God and Abstract Objects: A Prolegomenon	PAUL GOULD	255
God and Propositions	KEITH YANDELL	275
God and the Platonic Horde: A Defense of Limited Conceptualism	RICHARD DAVIS	289
A Nominalist Perspective on God and Abstract Objects	WILLIAM LANE CRAIG	305
ARTICLES
The Lord of Noncontradiction: An Argument for God from Logic	JAMES N. ANDERSON AND GREG WELTY	321
Natural Theology's Case for Jesus's Resurrection: Methodological and Statistical Considerations	HUGH G. GAUCH, JR.	339
The Sacrament of Punishment: A Response to David Boonin's Abolitionism	KENT DUNNINGTON	357
Tooley, Plantinga, and the Deontological Argument from Evil	MATTHEW FLANNAGAN	373
The Epistemological Objection to Divine Command Ethics	GLENN PEOPLES	389
NOTES
On Free Will and Soul Making: Complementary Approaches to the Problem of Evil	JAMES S. SPIEGEL	405
Against a Naturalistic Causal Account of Reality: A Response to Graham Oppy	STEPHEN PARRISH	415
Revelation Today: A Review Essay on Divine Teaching and the Way of the World	PAUL REASONER AND CHARLES TALIAFERRO	427
How Personal Agents Are Located in Space: Implications for Worship, Eucharist, and Union with Christ	JOHN JEFFERSON DAVIS	437
Irrealism, Ontological Pluralism, and the Trinity: A Reply to Efrid on Make/Believing the World(s)	MARK S. MCLEOD-HARRISON	445

How Much Evidence to Justify Religious Conversion? Some Thoughts on Burden and Standard of Proof vis-à-vis Christian Commitment	JOHN WARWICK MONTGOMERY	449
---	-------------------------	-----

BOOK REVIEWS

Robert C. Koons and George Bealer, eds., The Waning of Materialism	JOSEPH GOTTLIEB	463
Robert Cummings Neville, Realism in Religion: A Pragmatist's Perspective	SAMUEL J. YOUNGS	468
Paul K. Moser, The Elusive God: Reorienting Religious Epistemology	R. DOUGLAS GEIVETT	474
Mary Leng, Mathematics and Reality	WILLIAM LANE CRAIG	479

NEWS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS		487
------------------------	--	-----

Editor's Introduction

This issue of Philosophia Christi should be a reminder to Christians of every stripe why believers need to do philosophy. There are some deep and abiding questions we need to answer correctly because there is a lot at stake—such as clear thinking on the very nature of God, love, justice, and logic. This journal issue is devoted to moving closer to an answer on an ages-old philosophical question about the nature of abstract objects. If this is new turf for you (as it was for me) you'll be delighted by the way Paul Gould, our guest editor for this print symposium, has introduced the topic. You'll also be delighted by the contributions on several different sides of the question that he has assembled. We are very grateful to Paul for his excellent work.

In addition to our special symposium, we have a range of very stimulating articles, notes, and reviews. Hugh Gauch of Cornell University has an essay herein on "Natural Theology's Case for Jesus's Resurrection." I mention this because it is an example of "ramified" natural theology to which we shall be devoting a special issue of the journal in the very near future. EPS members Angus Menuge, Charles Taliaferro, Tim McGrew, Hugh Gauch, and Lydia McGrew have been working with Richard Swinburne on an article that frames the issues and a call for papers on this emerging topic. Watch your e-mail in-boxes or check our website (www.epsociety.org) in early 2012 for more information.

A blessed 2012 to you all.

Craig J. Hazen
Biola University